WILL LUND

WILL LUND is Superintendent of Maine's Bureau of Consumer Credit Protection, the state agency responsible for enforcement of Maine's non-bank mortgage lending laws. In addition, his office administers the state's homeowner pre-litigation foreclosure hotline and housing counselor referral program. The agency also regulates "property preservation" companies that are hired to enter, secure and winterize homes in foreclosure. Superintendent Lund is a graduate of Cony High School in Augusta, Bowdoin College and the University of Maine School of Law.
